

Malus domestica 'Pink Lady'™

PINK LADY FRUITING APPLE TREE

An Australian bred fruiting apple with bright pink blushed skin and crispy, smooth-textured flesh, making it a wonderful eating/dessert apple. Ripening late in the season, from mid to late May, this variety stores well and is self-pollinating, however will be much higher yielding if cross-pollinated with a companion. Foliage is green with a slightly downy underside turning yellow in autumn.

A small fruiting tree, used as a feature in a small garden or planted in a group where there is more space. An ideal deciduous fruit tree for a small garden.

Plant in moderately fertile, moist, free-draining soil in full sun, although it will tolerate partial shade. Keep a clear area around the trunk of at least 60cm radius.

Foliage Deciduous

Form Round

Mature Size 3 x 2.5m

Family Rosaceae

Small

Deciduous

Round

Fruiting & Edible

Group Planting

Disclaimer: The material contained on the Speciality Trees website is for general information only. Although much care has been taken to provide the information on its website, Speciality Trees does not warrant the accuracy, completeness or currency of this information and its suitability to your needs. All material listed on the Speciality Trees website, its associated links and product sheets are varieties either ready for sale or in production. This is an information source and not confirmation of availability. It is strongly recommended that users enquire about product availability independently of this source.