

Pyrus calleryana 'Bradford'

BRADFORD ORNAMENTAL PEAR TREE

This is an ornamental pear that starts off pyramidal in shape when young, but become broader with age. Foliage is a glossy green and heart-shaped, and typical of callery pear tree turns it on in late autumn with foliage turning a myriad of reds, oranges and yellows. Blossom covers the tree in spring.

This tree is suitable for a wide range of uses including streetscapes, parks and avenues where there is space to many in a row. Also great as a single feature tree.

Prefers well-drained soil in a sunny position. Can be semi-evergreen in milder climate. Adaptable to a wide range of site conditions including quite dry conditions, slightly alkaline and/or wet soils including limited coastal exposure.
